

B.F. Skinner Foundation

Better behavioral science for a more humane world.

Items for CalABA auction

Feb. 18-20, 2010

Horse drawing by Deborah Skinner

Manuscript Page about perception in B. F. Skinner's handwriting

Silk tie worn by Skinner with photograph of him wearing it

Holland and Skinner's first edition hardcover Analysis of Behavior, signed by B. F. Skinner and Ellen P. Reese

13 1/2 by 10-inch signed Ink drawing on fine quality paper by Skinner's daughter Deborah.

Reserve bid = $500

How you know a person sees X - ↳ same mistake!

history in
Verbal communication.

1. He can describe X or his seeing of X
2. He can ^{construct a duplicate} model of X (Draw, etc X points to copy)
3. He can ⁱⁿ be you. You can see yourself seeing X.
4. He can read X, if it is a word, or follow it as a direction.))
5. He can respond in any appropriate way to X

How do you know he sees X?

1. Responds appropriately. Stop, go.
2. " verbally appropriately. Describe. Same, diff.
3. Constructs a matching S, a model.
4. He is you. You ^① see X and ^② see you see X.
History of ①
" " ②

Manuscript page in B. F. Skinner's handwriting: Ink on top, edited in pencil on bottom. NOTE: The Foundation is currently in the process of transferring Skinner's papers to the Harvard University Archives. Once transferred, originals such as this will no longer be available.

Reserve bid = $1000

Silk tie with 5x7-inch color photograph showing Skinner wearing the tie.

Label of tie says

"Made Exclusively for The Museum of Fine Arts, Boston in USA of Japanese Fabric."

This is obviously one of a kind. There is only one other tie in existence that is shown in a photograph with Skinner wearing it, and that tie will remain in the Skinner family.

Reserve bid = $600

First edition in dust jacket of Holland and Skinner's The Analysis of Behavior, signed by B. F. Skinner and Ellen P. Reese. Signed copies of this book cannot be found on the internet. They are extremely rare.

The inside pages of this copy are clean except for the signatures on the title page.

Reserve bid = $1400